MARK SCHEME
Maximum Mark: 80

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2022 series for most Cambridge IGCSE™, Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

Generic Marking Principles

These general marking principles must be applied by all examiners when marking candidate answers. They should be applied alongside the specific content of the mark scheme or generic level descriptors for a question. Each question paper and mark scheme will also comply with these marking principles.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 1:

Marks must be awarded in line with:

- the specific content of the mark scheme or the generic level descriptors for the question
- the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the generic level descriptors for the question
- the standard of response required by a candidate as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 2:

Marks awarded are always whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 3:

Marks must be awarded positively:

- marks are awarded for correct/valid answers, as defined in the mark scheme. However, credit is given for valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme, referring to your Team Leader as appropriate
- marks are awarded when candidates clearly demonstrate what they know and can do
- marks are not deducted for errors
- marks are not deducted for omissions
- answers should only be judged on the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar when these features are specifically assessed by the question as indicated by the mark scheme. The meaning, however, should be unambiguous.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 4:

Rules must be applied consistently, e.g. in situations where candidates have not followed instructions or in the application of generic level descriptors.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 5:

Marks should be awarded using the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme for the question (however; the use of the full mark range may be limited according to the quality of the candidate responses seen).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 6:

Marks awarded are based solely on the requirements as defined in the mark scheme. Marks should not be awarded with grade thresholds or grade descriptors in mind.

1	Suggest two features of the costume you would wear to play GANESHA.
	Ganesha is a key figure introduced early on, and is described as someone with an elephant's head and man's body who comes strutting, his mask reflecting the God–like qualities of the character and may be comic. Suggestions could include a cumbersome, full head or symbolic 2D mask held up, and another aspect of costume. Additional appropriate costume should reflect his status. Only one mark can be awarded for the mask/head.

2	Read the passage between line 167–8 ['the KING OF THE FISHERMEN appears'] and line 204 ['He said that?']. As an actor, identify three different physical actions the KING OF THE FISHERMEN could use to emphasise his power and authority. There are several potential moments of movement and physicality which would emphasise power and authority. He looks at Santanu critically, is anxious to extract a promise before agreeing to the marriage, calls bluff as he walks away, shows fears caused by doubts, spreads hands to indicate impossible dilemma he is in, surprise/suspicion that Bhishma will give up all his rights, debates closely (proxemics) with Bhishma and deploys facial incredulity in making Bhishma repeat his oath.
	An appropriate suggestion of a physical action he could use to emphasise his power and authority.
	A second appropriate suggestion of a physical action he could use to emphasise his power and authority.	1 Mark

SECTION B

Question	Answer			Marks
7		As a designer, how would you costume any two characters to show their difference in status?
	Candidates may include labelled sketches which should be credited. They may discuss fabrics or ways costumes reveal status. Joan, possibly the most popular choice, is described as 'dressed in man's clothes throughout' although candidates may choose to present her as the simple peasant girl dressed as such with nowhere to hide weapons or money. Her parents might be similar. The Lords and bishops, by contrast, will be well dressed and shod, carrying weapons and protective chainmail, or draped in clerical clothes. The original stage direction that the costumes are 'vaguely medieval' should guide candidates.
