EITHER

- 1 Pavel is driving his truck on a busy motorway in excess of the speed limit. Whilst changing lanes to overtake without using the truck's indicator, Pavel's truck hits a car driven by Sean. Both drivers stop their vehicles by the side of the motorway, to inspect the damage and exchange insurance details. Sean's car is badly damaged.

In his rush to stop after the collision, Sean does not move his car completely off the motorway. As he and Pavel are about to get back into their vehicles, a car driven by Becky hits Sean's car. Sean and Pavel are trapped between Sean's car and Pavel's truck. They are both bleeding heavily and shouting for help. Becky is uninjured but is traumatised.

Cara, a nurse, sees the incident and stops to help. However, she is unable to reach the injured parties trapped between the vehicles. When the emergency services arrive, they take Sean and Pavel to hospital. Cara has been very upset since the incident as she believes that she should have done more to help.

- 2 Anna opens a bakery and shop. There is a step at the entrance to the shop, so, to warn customers, Anna makes and displays a small but colourful sign at the door which reads 'Watch your step!'.

Val is going to her mother's 80th birthday party and has forgotten to buy her a birthday cake. Val rushes into the shop and is relieved to find that Anna has a suitable cake. She pays for it and quickly turns to leave. As she does so, she trips on the step. She falls, crushes the cake and breaks her leg.

The good reputation of Anna's bakery results in a contract to supply several supermarkets. To fulfil these orders, Anna extends the operating hours of the bakery so that production continues throughout the night. Paul has lived in an apartment opposite the bakery for several years. He is now frequently woken at night by the noise of delivery trucks. The air conditioning in the bakery is not working so windows are kept open and Paul can hear the loud music played by the staff. He complains to Anna that the new operating hours are disruptive. Anna says that there is nothing she can do if she is to keep customers happy and her business profitable.
