Where are you going? It is still break time. Lenchiro: Hello Mambo. I am taking this book back to the library. I was just finishing the last page. It is one of the most interesting story books I have ever read. Mambo: What was the book all about? Lenchiro: It was about a boy, Kodawa, who was addicted to drugs and substance abuse. The boy dropped out of school and joined the bad boys in town. Mambo: Oh my! Why did poor Kodawa decide to do that?

Lenchiro: It was because his new friends in town persuaded him to do so. They also threatened to chase him from their group if he refused to comply. Mambo: I also think that idleness contributes to indulgence in drugs and substance abuse. The boys must have been idle. Lenchiro: Exactly. But the good thing is that Kodawa was taken back to their village, Mchangabaridi, where he reformed and resumed school. Mambo: Wow! Thank God he did.
